Terry,

I spoke with Donna Pallister today from LFR about the soil gas monitoring wells and the carbon dioxide levels in them at the Springfield Street schools as they relate to the RAWP commitments and Fishbach's December 23, 2003 letter. She indicated that she was going to send us a letter indicating why she disagrees with the Action level in the RAWP which was written by another consulting firm, and why she disagrees with the need for more assessment (installation of additional wells to monitor soil gas) of the carbon dioxide issue at the site. She is going to request to amend the RAWP to change the action level for carbon dioxide in the soil gas wells. She is also going to continue to monitor carbon dioxide levels in the buildings with a handheld instrument that can get down to 1 ppm instead of the other unit which measures in 1000 ppm units.

Please let me know if you need any additional information.

Kelly
